NAREIT Media Update

The FTSE NAREIT All REIT Index was down almost 30% in the first quarter of 2009. However, positive returns in March could indicate recently announced efforts to revitalize the commercial real estate credit markets are beginning to restore investor confidence.

- The FTSE NAREIT All REIT Index was down 29.78 percent in the first quarter of 2009. However, the All REIT Index was up 4.41 percent in March, following double-digit declines in January and February.
- The FTSE NAREIT Equity REIT Index was down 31.87 percent in the first quarter. The Equity REIT Index was up 4.06 percent in March after also posting double-digit declines in January and February.
- The FTSE NAREIT Mortgage REIT Index was down 8.82 percent in the first quarter. The Mortgage REIT Index was up 4.84 percent in March after posting single-digit declines in January and February.
- While the broader market indexes have also started 2009 in negative territory, positive returns in March continued to push them closer to the black. Through March, the NASDAQ Composite was down 3.07 percent, the S&P 500 was down 11.01 percent, the Dow Jones Industrials was down 13.30 percent, and the Russell 2000 was down 14.95 percent.

Positive March returns in most REIT sectors also may reflect growing investor belief that future declines in underlying commercial property values already are priced into REIT shares and that the shares currently are undervalued relative to the asset values of the companies' portfolios.

- The positive returns seen in the REIT industry in March translated across most market segments. Positive monthly returns were seen in all sectors except Office, Shopping Centers, Self Storage and Commercial Financing. However, none of those sectors posted a monthly decline greater than 1.6 percent.
- The slowdown in global manufacturing and decreased wholesale activity hurt the Industrial REIT sector to the tune of a 41.89 percent decline in the first quarter of 2009. However, the sector rebounded in March, posting a positive return of 14.61 percent.
- Home Financing REITs (up 5.02 percent in March) continue to be among the top-performing sectors so far in 2009, signaling that investors are growing more confident that the brunt of the residential mortgage crisis has already been discounted in the shares of these companies, many of which invest in mortgage securities backed by Fannie Mae and Freddie Mac.
- Lodging/Resort REITs, which have been among the hardest hit sectors in 2009, posted a 10.3 percent gain in March.
- Ongoing economic instability, decreasing consumer spending and concerns over tenant viability have brought the Retail REIT sector down more than 36 percent year-to-date, with overall flat sector results in March.

Many of the real estate investment industry's leading professionals will be at REITWeek: NAREIT's 2009 Investor Forum®. Reserve your media credentials today for the industry's premier opportunity to engage leading executives and investors, June 3-5 at the Waldorf=Astoria Hotel in New York City.

- Approximately 80 companies will deliver individual company presentations at this year's event, while session topics will include global markets and investments, establishing value, assessing and assuming risk, and capital market alternatives.
